Reuse by the Numbers

Reuse matters...

According to the E.P.A., home construction, remodeling and demolition projects are responsible for 136 million tons of waste a year or 25 to 30 percent of the nation's annual municipal solid waste.

The Institute for Local Self-Reliance estimates deconstruction could divert up to 24 million tons of demolition waste each year for reuse.

Reuse saves...

The average tipping fee for the Midwest is about $34.96 per ton. Donation pickup from The Stock Pile is free!

Reuse helps...

According to David Bennink, a deconstruction consultant: "[reuse] is catching on...for its social benefits, for job creation and providing materials. The materials we reclaim are available for low-income homeowners..."

The Stock Pile by the numbers...

The Stock Pile has helped over 7,000 families improve their homes for 1/3 of retail costs. In 2012, we helped over 100 local business save money on tipping and dumpster fees thru our FREE donation pickups.
